THE PENSION QUESTION.

Advised Opposition to Placing the Confederate Soldiers on the Government Roll.

At the great reunion in Florida in May, 1914, some kindhearted veteran offered a resolution to request the Congress of the United States to allow the Confederate soldiers to be placed on the pension roll with those of the Union Army of the War of 1861-65. No sooner introduced than some "Smart Alecks" bounced up and opposed it. This was done, of course, on the ground that the Southern soldiers were more patriotic to the "Lost Cause" than to be willing to accept pension from the United States. "Tell it not in Gath and publish it not in the streets of Ashkelon." If these opposers did not need a pension, how many thousands are there that do need it? How many thousands have lost arms, eyes, legs and otherwise bear in their bodies the mark of honor, made by the enemy's gun? Those Confederate soldiers who opposed the resolution surely did not consider how unjust it is to deprive those who need the pension from getting it. Let us see how this thing is.

Soon after the war, say 45 or 48 years ago, North Carolina and other Southern States began paying to the United States pension fund. Did you ever hear a true Confederate complain about it? Since that time the Southern States have paid millions of dollars into that fund, and now after all these years, we hear that all true Union soldiers would favor an act allowing Confederates, who really deserved it, to have a pension. It would move toward healing the old breach than anything else. After nearly fifty years, anything to the pension fund, are there any on either side of the Mason and Dixon Line, who will oppose the other fellow being admitted to this public benefit fund? There are thousands of Confederate veterans who have never had a cent of pension and never expect to have any; but don't let us oppose the needy getting a pension if it is possible. All veterans who do not need it, can decline a pension, but let us remember the other fellow.

We admire complimentary speeches and monuments, but they do not feed or clothe the destitute veteran. Don't forget that the South helped to pay it.

Items of Interest and Personal Mention Caught Over the Wireless on the Streets of Anderson

All Veterans Have Departed.

About one-half of the veterans in the city for the reunion on Wednesday and Thursday remained in the city Thursday and took their departure on morning trains yesterday. Last night it was said that not a one of the visitors remained. Some had feared that one of two of the veterans might become ill here but fortunately there was not one to complain yesterday morning and when they left for home they were all in good spirits.

Commencement On At Woman's College.

Several Anderson people went to Due West last night to attend the first night of the commencement exercises at the Woman's College of Due West. The program last night began at 8 o'clock and consisted of a contest for the Darlington medal, open to the students of the school of expression. The Baccalaureate sermon is to be preached tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock by Rev. Dr. David James Eubank of New York city. That occasion will also attract a number of Anderson people.

Warm Weather Brings Many Automobile Deals.

Eugene T. Anderson, the well known Anderson Buick dealer, has just closed a contract with Dyer & Copeland of Gaffney, State agents for the Imperial automobile, by which Mr. Anderson obtains the county rights for three South Carolina counties and Hart county, Georgia. Mr. Anderson has already sold a handsome Imperial touring car to B. F. Mauld and expects to place a large number in this county. M. M. Mattison has purchased a handsome Chalmers automobile from Sader's Garage and Walter Keesse has bought a Ford from Archie L. Todd. A number of other automobile deals are slated to take place within the next few days.

Miss Clinckscale Almost Recovered.

Miss Lillian Clinckscale, who has been in the Anderson County hospital for the last four weeks, was yesterday able to come down town and was heartily welcomed by her friends. Miss Clinckscale, who is a daughter of Mrs. R. P. Clinckscale, underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Much Difference Between Varieties.

Furman Smith, the well known Seedman, said yesterday that he had heard comments from all parts of the county concerning the interview he gave The Intelligencer some days ago concerning the planting of millet with peas instead of using cane. Mr. Smith said that he thought of course the public would know that he referred to early varieties of peas, for the staple reason that millet matures much earlier than late peas. "However," said Mr. Smith, "Soy beans and peas make a fine combination if the variety is of the late kind."

Dr. Sloan Said To Be Very Ill.

Anderson people will regret to learn that Dr. P. H. E. Sloan is seriously ill at his home at Clemson college. Dr. Sloan has been treasurer of Clemson college for over 20 years, resigning that position only a few weeks ago on account of ill health. He has a number of friends in Anderson and without exception they will be grieved to learn that he is very ill and that fears are entertained for his recovery.

J. D. HAMMETT THANKS PEOPLE

EXPRESSES APPRECIATION FOR SERVICES RENDERED BY THOSE IN CHARGE

NO SHIRKING SEEN

Splendid Team Work of People Responsible for Success of This Great Gathering

Nothing is heard anywhere but good words for the great success attending the staging of the State reunion of Confederate veterans held here Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The veterans, sponsors, and all visitors are delighted at the reception accorded them and speak in highest terms of praise of the hospitality of the Anderson people, and of the splendid manner in which the various organizations appointed performed their duties.

The executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce is also well pleased at the fidelity and industry shown by its appointees in making this reunion so great a success, thus giving to Anderson such wide and favorable comment. Andersonians generally are shaking hands with themselves because by their acts they merited so much praise as was bestowed by the veterans and the thousands of visitors to Anderson during the week.

The following card of thanks has been received by The Intelligencer from Chairman Jas. D. Hammett, of the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce:

I desire to take this opportunity of thanking all those who in any way contributed to the success of the recent State Reunion of the old soldiers held in Anderson Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Not a single individual designated to perform a duty shirked in the smallest degree, and to this splendid team work is largely due the great success of handling this reunion and the great crowds of visitors here for the week.

I wish, on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce to extend to each and everyone of you our sincere appreciation for the part so nobly done. I cannot call you all by name, but you are thought of just the same and this is intended as personal to everyone of you.

I desire to thank the entertainment committee under whose auspices the handling of the reunion was reorganized, of which Gen. M. L. Bonham was chairman; the two members of the central committee from each of the chapters of U. D. C., the Palmetto, Dixie and R. E. Lee chapters; Secretary F. M. Burnett, of the Y. M. C. A., and his company of Boy Scouts; Mrs. R. C. Webb chairman and members of the ladies civic league; Leon L. Rice and the members of the housing committee; Miss Eubanks Taylor, chairman and members of the registration committee; R. R. King, chairman and members of the parade committee; W. B. McLean, chairman, and the members of the ball committee; Mrs. R. C. Webb, chairman, and members of the decorating committee; Gen. C. A. Reed, chairman, and members of the finance committee; The Anderson Daily Intelligencer and The Daily Mail; J. S. Farmer, chairman, and the members of the refreshment committee; the executive officers of the U. D. C., for arranging reception at the hotel; J. L. Quattlebaum, chairman, and members of the Sons of Veterans; Lee C. Holman, mayor, and members of the city council; Chief Jackson, of the fire department; Miss Zenobia Webb, chairman, and members of the music committee; the 1st and 2nd Regiment bands and the Zion band, for their playing; Capt. Ligon and the members of the Palmetto Riflemen; the owners of all automobiles; the railroad companies; the people of the city who furnished homes for the veterans and visitors; Mrs. James Sullivan, chairman, and ladies of the reception committee; Mrs. C. McG. Patrick, representative of the U. D. C. of the state, and all others who in any way assisted.

When I think of the hard working, untiring efforts of this kind I feel proud of people of Anderson who united on action and of Anderson.

Jas. D. Hammett, Chairman.
